Server Plug-ins

Although GL is still in its developing stage, Fizzy decided to search some plugins to add to the Assetto Corsa server. The plugins that were planned to be added would be: speed trap cameras, Safety rating, Up/downhill leaderboards, Score plugin, and a better race plugin. This would be a portion of the future implementations which means the racing experience will be more sophisticated than what is on the list above.

Rolling Starts

The encouragement of competition in GL is becoming clear with the implementation of Rolling starts for tournaments, featuring clearly marked light lines for visibility. This setup allows drivers to gain pace and ensures fair racing by requiring everyone to maintain a speed of around 60 km/h until they cross the start line. Once past this line, the real race begins! Additionally, there will be two other lines forming a rectangle zone. If both players enter this zone, another round will commence, but the winner will be determined by which racer surpasses the other. This feature was inspired by Takeshiwas battle streams on youtube

Racing Style

"I spend most of my time racing vintage period racecars; cars like the Alfa Romeo GTA and the 190E evo II. The lack of overall grip and soft suspension offered by those dated racecars eventually shape me to the driver I am today. I prioritize aggresive weight transfer and rotation, which usually sees me oversteering into the apex of a corner, then understeering on the apex and exit. This driving style allows a high entry speed, on the cost of mid corner rotation and corner exit stability if not executed properly, which I do all the time. This style of driving is dated, and is not as fast as the smoother styles out there, but it sure looks flashy, and presents itself as a very fun style of spirited driving. "

Server Plans

Discord Server

In September, the introduction of plugins to the Assetto Corsa Server marked a significant change for the community, enhancing the racing experience with immersion and intensity. With functional speed trap cameras and dynamic leaderboards now in play, the recently launched Gunma Legends website is also functioning.

Looking ahead, plans are underway to push further in making a unique environment with the addition of six new servers, potentially featuring diverse maps to drive on. Our singular physical server can host these six servers simultaneously, creating what we'll refer to as a "machine" for clarity. While these new servers may offer fewer slots, the primary server doesn't currently handle a heavy user load, ensuring that the new additions are likely to operate smoothly with low player count.
